Agentless Threat Protection
Security You May Already Own

Enhancing Your End Point Security

It takes just one malicious outbreak on your network to emphasize the effectiveness of your security defenses. Preventing an outbreak or breach is important, but even more vital is determining the impact it has had, identifying which systems were compromised, having controls to quickly remediate, and then analyzing how it happened in the first place. If you are currently on Office 365, chances are you already own the cloud license needed to enable Windows Defender ATP for centralized management and greater capabilities.

Using Windows Defender Advanced Threat Protection enables security teams to map exactly the point an attacker entered your network, how the attacker moved through your network, and which activities they engaged in. It is one thing to remediate a network breach, but having the rich details of exactly how the breach occurred enables us to make sure any vulnerabilities in the network are found and corrected to prevent future breaches.

The Windows Defender ATP Advantage

Prevention
Quickly adapt to changing threats and deploy new defenses, all while monitoring abnormalities.

Post Detection
Detect attacks and zero-day exploits using advanced behavioral analytics and Machine Learning.
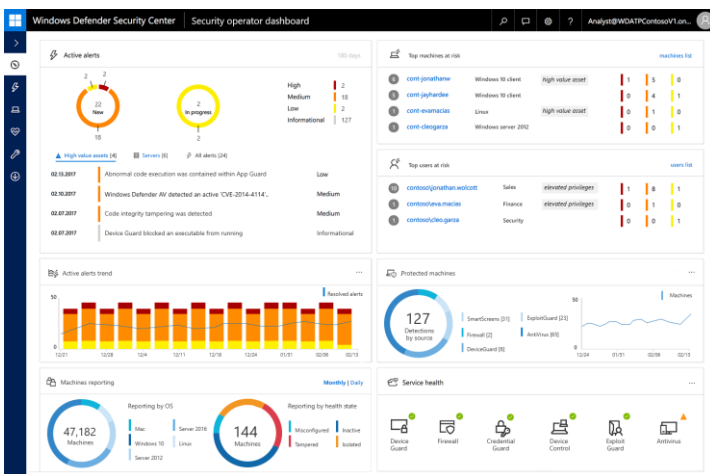

Investigation
Visually investigate forensic evidence across your endpoints to easily uncover scope of breach.

Response
Integrates detection and exploration with Office 365 ATP subscription, to track back and respond to attacks.

As a Microsoft Gold Partner, PEI Can Help!

There are several Microsoft Office 365 subscriptions that enable the advanced and centralized capabilities of Windows Defender Advanced Threat Protection. Chances are that you already are paying for this technology while paying for a secondary solution as well. With our endpoint security assessment, we will work with you to review your current endpoint security solution, evaluate your Office 365 licenses, provide a cost analysis, and provide an overview of Windows Defender—the most advanced security endpoint product available. Contact PEI directly at info@pei.com or call us at 303-974-6881.

With five gold certifications, PEI is in the top one percent of Microsoft's Partner Ecosystem.
